DEFEAT THE SOX, 3-2

Harper Breaks Nationals' Slump by Fine Pitching.

WALSH IS BATTED HARD

Former Star Spittball Hurler Lasts But Short While Against the Griffins.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

CHICAGO, June 14.—There was some real joy in the camp of the Nationals last night. The long slump came to an abrupt end yesterday, when the White Sox were defeated in the fourth game of the series by a score of 3 to 2. The slumping that has been going on ever since the start of the present trip has landed the Nationals almost at the edge of the brink of the second division, but they stopped just in time today to keep from going over. Harper was the man that stopped the slump. He held the Sox to three lonely hits and was himself instrumental in helping to make one of the runs that counted for the victory. Big Ed Walsh started the game for the Sox, and it was off him that all of the runs were made.

The big Moose had none of his old-time cunning, and then his support was extremely ragged. The much-advertised appearance of Walter Johnson did not take place because Walter was up all night with a sick father-in-law and was not feeling like exerting himself. The announcement that the old-time rivals would do the pitching brought out a banner mid-week crowd of 10,000 fans. It was a good game, barring the one bad inning on each side. A wild heave by Russel was made for the Nationals to get two runs over the plate in the third inning or it would have been a perfect fielding contest.

The Nationals did not make an error, and seven hits were made off the Sox pitchers. There were three of the local leavers. Red Russell replaced Walsh in the third inning, and then Wolfgang took Reb's place after Lynn had batted for him in the fifth. It was a real summer afternoon. The fans were out in their shirtsleeves for the first time in the series. It was Harper's second appearance during the series, and he is now even for the defeat that was landed him in the opening game.

Walsh Makes Good Start.

Walsh started off as if he was going to get away with the game. He passed Moeller, the first man up, but struck Judge out as Dan tried to steal, and then Milan was a victim of three strikes. In the second round one run was scored off the veteran spitball hurler. Morgan was passed with one out and Foster smashed a double to left field, on which Ray rode all the way in from first. Harper started the third round with a two-base drive to left field. Moeller followed with a single, but Moeller was out at second, but he made a wide heave and the ball rolled to left field before Eddie Collins could retrieve it.

Harper was across the plate and Moeller on third and Judge at second by that time. Milan bounced a short grounder to Walsh and Moeller tried to score, but was out at the plate. Rondeau singled to left, Judge scored and Russell was called on to do the rescue act.

Easy for Russell.

It was easy for Russell to stop the melee. Morgan filed out to John Collins and Foster fled to Felsch and the round was ended. All of this time the Sox were unable to get a man to first base. They had been going out in one, two, three order in each inning. It was not until the fourth inning that they got a man on first. Eddie Collins waited for a base on balls, but there were two out at the time and Ness fouled out to the catcher to end the inning. In the fifth inning Joe Jackson was first up and Harper got a bit nervous. He pushed four wide ones up for Joe to strike at, but the latter refused and got his base.

Felsch then singled to left and it looked as if Harper was in for a very bad round. Schalk hit an easy grounder to Harper, who fumbled just long enough to miss throwing Jackson out at third, but he did get Schalk at first.

Sends Double to Right Field.

Terry took a double over into short right field and Jackson and Felsch scored. Lynn went up to bat for Russell. It was not until the fourth inning that they got a man on first. Eddie Collins waited for a base on balls, but there were two out at the time and Ness fouled out to the catcher to end the inning. In the fifth inning Joe Jackson was first up and Harper got a bit nervous. He pushed four wide ones up for Joe to strike at, but the latter refused and got his base.

Marshall Clinches Match.

Cannot Be Beaten if He Loses All Three Remaining Games.

NEW YORK, June 14.—By winning the seventh game of his match with D. Janowski of Paris at the rooms of the Manhattan Chess Club, F. J. Marshall, the United States chess champion, further increased his lead and made himself secure against possible defeat, even if he should lose all the remaining three games. Having five points to his credit already Marshall will be the winner of the match the moment he scores another draw.

The game yesterday lasted only twenty-five moves. It was the shortest of the series. Janowski had the white side of a queen's pawn opening and at his twelfth turn brought his queen to the king's side of the board, giving Marshall an opportunity to sacrifice his knight and obtain a winning attack against the white king. The French expert lost his queen in the twenty-first move and was forced to give to date is: Marshall, 4; Janowski, 1; drawn, 2.

Connie Mack and John McGraw agree on many things, but they are apart on the advisability of traveling west.

President Wilson will have as much trouble getting the democratic nomination this week as Charles Comiskey will have getting inside the White Sox park.

Fun for the Fans.

There will be all the festivity and probably more than at a big league opening attendant upon the annual Masonic game, in which the Shrine and Grotto teams will clash at American League Park Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Hostilities will be preceded by an auto parade that will be both colorful and musical, the Shrine and Grotto bands heading the procession. A tour of some of the principal streets will wind up at the park, where the two musical aggregations will stage a duel, which will continue during the combat.

All details regarding the big contest were ironed out last night, when the Masters' Association committee and the men in charge of the various details conferred. They found everything to be in tip-top condition.

Tickets are on sale at Spalding's sporting goods store.

Justice-Trade Beat Printers.

Government Printing Office took only one of its matches with Justice-Trade in the Departmental Tennis League game which was played yesterday, its star team, Williams and Buckingham, capturing their doubles match from the opposing ranking team of Golton and Graves. Summaries: Buckingham and Williams (G. P. O.) defeated Colton and Graves (Justice-Trade), 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. Day and Tracy (Justice-Trade) defeated Tisdell and Wallace (G. P. O.), 6-4, 6-2. Hull and Bielaski (Justice-Trade) defeated Gowan and Brayton (G. P. O.), 6-4, 6-2. Hinton and Houghton (Justice-Trade) defeated Colton and Lane (G. P. O.), 6-4, 6-1. Morrow and Durand (Justice-Trade) defeated Husler and Healy (G. P. O.), 6-4, 6-2.

NATIONALS CONCLUDE SERIES WITH CHICAGO TEAM TODAY

Walter Johnson Probably Will Attempt to Win Fifth Contest With White Sox.

Walsh Fails to Show Stuff.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 14.—The Nationals today will conclude their stay here. It is the fifth game of the series and the count now stands three to one in favor of the White Sox. Walter Johnson was advertised to appear in yesterday's game and brought out the largest crowd of the series except Sunday, and the chances are that another big turnout will be on hand today to see the speed marvel work. Walter is always a great favorite here, as he is everywhere else. Manager Griffith felt very bad yesterday, but it could not be helped. He had made the announcement in good faith and did not want to disappoint the big crowd, but Walter's father-in-law was very ill Monday night and the famous twirler had been up most of the night with him and was in no shape to go to the slush.

The come-back effort of Big Ed Walsh was a fizzle and it no doubt means the end of the veteran spit-baller. He started out all right, but he made good, but his support broke at a critical time and he could not be saved. Walsh had some of the first inning, but he failed to show anything in the second or third round. He was only a shadow of his old self. It was pitiable to see him trying to get them over the plate and still more pitiable to see him walking to the bench after he had been signaled to quit. The once proud hero was marching out of a big league game for the last time in his career, and he seemed to realize it, for he hung his head and looked for a time as if he was on the point of shedding tears. He had clung to the hope that he was going to be able to make a successful come-back today. He never stopped to say a word to any of his mates on the bench, but walked right on to the clubhouse and in to the shower. There was no comment made by the crowd.

The Nationals now have a good chance to end their stay here with victories out of the five-game session. Johnson will win if his mates are able to hold the Sox to three runs, but yesterday was some better, but it was not good enough to permit any of the Washington men to feel that their batting slump was over. Only three hits were made off Russell and Wolfgang, and the chances are that they would have been able to hold the Sox down if they had been in the whole game.

Red Faber may be the pitcher to oppose Johnson today. Red has been suffering from a bad finger on his pitching hand, but he may be able to get in for the final game. If he does it should be a pretty battle between the two great pitchers.

Johnson warmed up at the close of yesterday's game. In case Harper showed signs of breaking up, Griffith wanted to hold the lead intact. Harper did not even hesitate in his work after that fifth round. He usually has shown weakness in his own inning. When he got over the bad spot he was

AUDITORS TAKE FIRST SERIES IN TERMINAL Y. M. C. A. LEAGUE

If Tie Game Is Played Off, Though, General Office Will Have Chance to Win.
Central Victor Over Tech.

BY H. C. BYRD.

The Southern Auditors lead the Terminal Railroad Y. M. C. A. League at the end of the first series. They have won nine games and lost one, while the General Office team, which is the second, has eight victories and two defeats as its record. Car Department finishes third with two wins out of nine starts and Union Station brings up the rear with only one victory in eleven contests.

There is a possibility that a tie will be declared, as a tie game between Auditors and General Office early in the season may be played over. If this is done and General Office wins, the first series will end in a tie. The Auditors are finishing in front. The B. & O. team has become a member of the league, to take the vacancy created by the withdrawal of Car Department. J. J. Lavarine is to have charge of the new club.

There was not much to the game between Central and Tech yesterday. The Blue and White teams, a good lead in the first four innings and Tech had little chance to accomplish anything in an offensive way, while Gottlieb dished up the brand of pitching he produced and while his teammates held so well behind him. Central's victory assures it of the runner-up position at least in the race for the championship, with the possibility that it will capture the championship.

Central's chance, though, of winning, even after its victory over Tech, can be considered only of the outside variety. Eastern, if it can take the remaining game of the series from Western, will have the lead. If it is beaten by Western it can still win by defeating Central in the play-off of the title. The Central team, with a pitcher of the caliber of Tomlin in the chances of Eastern winning at least one of any two games it might have to play would be extremely good.

Gottlieb was absolutely invincible as far as the forcing of runs and Tech men off the bases most of the time, and when they did advance they were run out. Only one or two reached third during the entire round. The one run was scored by Tech in the fourth inning, when a single by Tech man at first and a sacrifice by Tech man at second, whereupon the umpire allowed a Tech runner to score from second. Hird was hit hard at times and was not given very good support, either. The Tech pitcher did not work in near as good form as in some of the other contests in which he has been on the slab this season. Tech's infield faltered considerably, too, and the general weakness was evident in their work at bat.

First Baseman Marshall has been elected to the captaincy of the base ball team. Marshall has played first base for the Kendall Greens for two years, and his work in that position has been brilliant. He has also led the team in batting and is regarded as clearly the most eligible man for the position. Marshall also has qualities which should make him a fine leader and give him great popularity with his fellow students.

as good as ever. It was a wise thing for Griffith to let him stick it out.

Griffith thinks that Kenneth McGovern, the new left-hander who has reported to the team, is going to make good. He is an promising a youngster as Griff has had since he took hold of the management of the Nationals. Altk found McGovern at Knox College, in Galesburg, Ill., last spring and gave him the once over.

Joe Jackson stole a two-base hit off Rondeau in the fifth inning, and made another great catch of Morgan's long fly in the eighth. Joe did not make a good play yesterday, but he held it to left in the second inning, but let the ball get by him and roll to the left field fence, where it should have been a single and thus kept Morgan at third in that round. He was in bad with the fans as a result, but he made those two great catches he was forgiven for his poor fielding stunt in the early part of the game.

Lynn, who went up to bat for Russell in the fifth inning, struck out on three pitched balls. He stood there and let two go right over the plate in front of him and swung at the third one for a strike-out.

Foster used poor judgment in swinging on the ball in the eighth, when Rondeau and Morgan were waiting on second and first. There was one out and the count was three and two, and Foster struck at a ball that was far out or he would have had a base on balls and Rondeau would have been safe at third instead of being doubled up.

Harper had one of the best days that he has had in a long time. His ball was hopping in all directions and the Sox players were unable to gauge it at all. He made two nice hits and scored one of the three runs himself that ended the game for the Nationals. Griff switched his batting order again today at the very last minute. He sent Moeller to right field when it was announced that Walsh was going to pitch, and had Rondeau in left. Later Danny was taken out when Russell came in to pitch, and Shanks took his place in right.

Walsh was given a real old-time ovation when he stepped to the plate to start the game. There was a large crowd of fans waiting to see him and all of the players of the two teams grouped around him to congratulate him. Moeller should have scored in the third inning instead of being out at the plate. He stopped running when he saw Walsh get Milan's easy grounder, but the throw was wide enough to make the ball drop out of Schalk's glove and he had to pick it up and was just in time to get Danny after making the grab.

The weather was hot enough to satisfy the players. They have been anxious about having a hot day, but they had no luck on the conditions. There is a rainstorm threatened for tomorrow, but it rained so much last week that it is shown weakness in his own inning. When he got over the bad spot he was
